Sewer vs Septic Tank Decision Tossed Back In Selectmen's Lap

The question of allowing septic tanks in some 40 house lots at Dascomb and Lovejoy rds., or to allow the contractor to tie into the sewer, is now officially a Selectmen's problem.

The much-discussed subject, left at one point to the Board of Health to decide, has been referred by that Board to the Selectmen on the basis of a legal ruling from Atty. Fredric S. O'Brien, the town counsel.

He told the Board of Health that matters to do with the Ballardvale sewer plant are not for the Health Board to decide. The question of allowing entrance to the sewer hinges on whether the plant is of sufficient capacity, or whether it might be expanded.

At press time this week, there was no indication from the Selectmen as to when they would reach a decision on the matter.

Before referring the decision, the Board of Health Tuesday night heard two sets of statistics on the present use of the Ballardvale treatment plant.

Population Count
The Department of Public Works has taken a census in the area, finding that 120 homes are now tied in, serving some 600 persons. There are 46 houses, with 122 persons, which may be tied in, but which are not. There are six vacant houses which can be tied in, and there is one vacant house that is tied in. In addition, the DPW stated that an allowance of 3,000 gallons per day is being made for the South School.

The plant was designed to serve 600 persons, it has been stated at several meetings.

Report Just Provided
The second report, from Camp, Dresser and McKee, is one made in the middle of August, 1958. The Board of Health had not been furnished a copy until this week, according to Chairman Robert Walsh, apparently through some oversight. He recalled that the Health Board sent a letter to the Board of Public Works last September.

Miss Mildred Moore will be guest soloist Saturday night, when the All-Girl Band of Andover High and the Band of Phillips Academy present the first joint concert of the two schools.

Both bands will offer selections individually, and will play together during the evening, which begins at 9 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium.

Miss Joyce E. Mowat, acting director of music and Band director, is supervising the performance, with William B. Clift of the Academy.

Prior to the concert, a committee of mothers will serve supper to the two bands, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Simeone. Invited guests will be Supt. and Mrs. Edward I. Erickson, School Committeeman and Mrs. William A. Doherty; and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Clift.

Dumping Hours Still In Question

The Selectmen may soon be faced with a petition from residents who want the town dump open Sundays.

After considerable discussion Monday night, the door was left open to allow a public hearing on the subject, if a petition is presented to the Board at some future time.

Member James D. Wilson had first suggested that a hearing be held anyway. He described himself as being in sympathy with residents in the area of the dump, but believing that many more residents wish to have the place open Sunday afternoons.

Selectman William Stewart noted his opposition, as did Edward P. Hall. Philip K. Allen said he had favored the Sunday opening, but then changed his mind and now feels that probably anyone can get to the dump during the other six days of the week.

Mr. Hall explained that Chandler rd. residents get most of the traffic, no matter what part of town it comes from. And he stated that six days of it was enough. Mr. Stewart also felt that the problems

The School Committee has adopted a policy on driver training, which specifies that textbook portions of the course will be offered to juniors and seniors, while behind-the-wheel training will be given to seniors only.

The actual in-car driving will be given after school only, or on Saturdays. No school-day hours will be given to this phase of the training.

The statement was prepared by Lindsay J. March, headmaster of the High School, with Dr. John P. Gainey, assistant to the superintendent.

Dr. Gainey told the Committee that there has been little control over the program, and the policy statement is designed to control the course.

Other portions of the statement require that a student not have a license if he or she is to take any part of the school-offered course; that procurement of a

Plan Industrial Development Job

An ambitious program for the year has been adopted by the municipal Industrial and Development Commission, which met April 9.

Elected as chairman was Wallace M. Haselton, while William S. Yeager was re-elected vice chairman. Joseph B. Doherty was re-elected secretary.

The program for the year was discussed in great detail, revolving around several important steps to be taken in the near future.

Listed on the program for the year are:

Preparation of a brochure detailing the town's industrial policy and the advantages the community offers; procuring an aerial photo of industrial sites and a list of them; and advertising or listing the town's available sites in national industrial journals.

Also listed for immediate attention was the necessity of taking steps so that prospective pur-

Realtors' Pledge Is Stressed by Board

"A Realtor is not just any real estate broker. The term is a registered trademark which can be used only by an active member of the local real estate board who thus is pledged to abide by a strict code of ethics," Mr. Ronald V. Demers, president of the Greater Lawrence board, said.

He issued the statement to stress the importance of the Realtor's Pledge which is being emphasized during the celebration of Realtor Week, April 12-18, by the Lawrence board and by hundreds of others throughout the country.

Mr. Demers said it isn't the fact that a man is licensed and sells real estate that makes him a Realtor. It is his acceptance into membership by the local board and the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"His signature on his application for membership pledges his willingness to abide by the rules and adherence to the Code of Ethics," the board president

AL CARLSON

Al Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Carlson, 11 Shawshen rd., took top honors in the Greater Lawrence wrestling championships at the YMCA last weekend. There were 61 entries in nine weight classes, with Carlson, who won over four opponents, including three falls in the 167 weight division.

Andover boys measured up well in the competition, taking 16 points, Lawrence compiled 23 points, while North Andover had 15, Woodbury 12, Methuen 10 and Central Catholic 5.

The local boys wrestle and train at the Youth Center, under the tutelage of Roland Smith.

Carlson, who received a trophy for his accomplishment, was the only Andover boy to place first in the matches.

Mac Grant was second in the 123-pound class and John Langsdell was second in the unlimited class.

The following took third places: Dave Machen, 115-pounds; Mike Froshman, 130-pounds; Art Clegg, 137-pounds; Charles Smyth, 147-pounds; Tom Clark, 177-pounds.

Carlson pinned his first three opponents in an average time of 2:07 and, in the finals, defeated a strong opponent, 5-0.

My Views On Books

In cooperation with the Memorial Hall Library, during National Library Week, the Andover Townsman this week is publishing several personal statements from library users, on their use of books and the library. One of the statements follows, while others will be found on other pages of this newspaper:

By Charles J. McCabe

I am not so much concerned with the A bomb as I am with the I bomb — by that I mean "Lack of Information" and one of the greatest places I have been able to find to supply the information I want is in our own public library with its up to date modern reference books, and its well trained and capable staff.

While most of us have business and reference libraries of our own, it would be the rare personal or business library, because of the cost involved, which would contain (just to mention a few) copies of Moody's Investment Manuals, Commerce Clearing House Tax Services, Rand McNally Commercial Atlas and Marketing Guide, Statistical Abstract, Economic Almanac, or United States Government Manuals, all being some of the tools so necessary to today's businessman in order that he may improve and increase his business or enable him to answer many of the questions of his customers, employees, or associates.

Then too, for the man who has a leisure time activity or hobby, or one who wishes to select one that could become a more or less full time pursuit in later years, I find that our library has the rare, valuable, out of print, and in a great many cases otherwise unobtainable books and reference works that are important in answering the questions, authenticating the pieces (in the case of collectors), or giving the historical data that must be obtained in order to give your leisure time activity the sense of achievement and relaxation that you want it to have.

In my own case, the collecting of ancient and antique lighting devices, I have found Colonial Lighting by Arthur H. Hayward, and The Story of the Lamp by F.W. Robins to be invaluable reference works. I also find that in pursuing an activity of this kind, my knowledge is broadened and the value of my collection is thereby increased by the many other books and articles on lighting in our own public library.

Special Policemen Were Appointed

Only "functional" special police personnel have been appointed by the Selectmen.

The Board, in making the appointments, followed recommendations of Police Chief David L. Nicoll. Several persons, who have been appointed as special police officers in the past, failed of re-appointment, because the Board believed the appointment was merely honorary.

The following appointments were made:

Barrett, Forrest Noyes, Chester J. S. Harnden, Anthony Belia and Benjamin Brown. Dropped from the list were Stafford A. Lindsay, Dr. William V. Emmons, Sidney P. White and J. Everett Collins. The selectmen also appointed themselves special officers.

Appointed policewomen were Dorothy M. Volker, Margaretta Coutts, Isabel Quesenberry, Marion Pearson and Helen V. Locke.

Appointed special officers for specific duties were: Fred L. Collins, Roger Whitcomb, Charles Flanagan, Carl Holt, school department; Everett Ward, Memorial Hall library; John Deyermond, Merrimack Valley National Bank; John Mosher, William Schaufus, James Butler, James McCann, Abbot Academy; Fred H. Little Folks Enjoyed Party

Wednesday afternoon, April 15, little Patty Dodd had a very happy time celebrating her fifth birthday.

A group of her little friends gathered at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dodd of Argyle st., and helped her enjoy the fun. A luncheon with birthday cake and ice cream was served and after this the little folks were taken to the Zoo in Stoneham, where they had a delightful time.

Those present were Susie MacCartney, Lisa Lewis, Gene Bernardin, Michael Prout, Richard Robertson, Cynthia and Kimberly Gower, Junifer McLean, Susan Hill, Patty Dodd and Francis Szuets.

This situation could be virtually eliminated if the public could only be made to understand the true distinction of the term, "Realtor," he added.

Mr. Demers said it was a pleasure to recite the Pledge because "in effect, it reaffirms to the public the obligation their Realtors owe them." The Realtor's Pledge follows:

I AM A REALTOR
I Pledge Myself:

To protect the individual right of real estate ownership and to widen the opportunity to enjoy it;

To be honorable and honest in all dealings;

To seek better to represent my clients by building my knowledge and competence;

To act fairly towards all in the spirit of the Golden Rule;

To serve well my community, and through it my country;

To observe the Realtor's Code of Ethics and conform my conduct to its lofty ideals.

The board tomorrow will celebrate "Civic Day," in which the Realtors' responsibilities to the community will be emphasized and some of the civic activities in which the board has engaged will be outlined.

The following proclamation has been issued by Mayor John J. Buckley:

WHEREAS, the GREATER LAWRENCE Real Estate Board, in cooperation with hundreds of other boards of Realtors throughout the country and the National Association of Real Estate Boards, is observing Realtor Week from April 12-18; and

WHEREAS, the Realtors of LAWRENCE have taken a leading part in the development of our city by observing with professional competence in the promotion, planning, building, sale and purchase of all types of real property; and

WHEREAS, Realtors have always been in the forefront of those willing to donate of their special talents for the betterment of civic life as shown by their leadership in service clubs, citizens' organizations, various advisory commissions, and particularly in their Build America Better program for the arrest of urban blight and the elimination of slums; and

WHEREAS, the motivating spirit of Realtor activity is well expressed in the strict Code of Ethics based on the Golden Rule to which every Realtor is pledged; and

WHEREAS, every Realtor has available to him, in serving our citizens in any field of real property — whether it be commercial, industrial, or residential — the specialized knowledge of organized real estate; and

WHEREAS, above all, Realtors have played a most beneficial role in helping increasing numbers of our people to achieve home ownership status to the betterment of our civic well-being;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JOHN J. BUCKLEY, as Mayor of Lawrence, hereby proclaim the week of April 12-18 to be Realtor Week and urge our citizens to join with the GREATER LAWRENCE Real Estate Board in its celebration.

In Witness Whereof I hereby set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Lawrence to be affixed this third day of April, 1959.

ber, asking for any information available on the subject.

The engineers' report recommended against allowing the new homes at Lovejoy and Dascomb
rds. to enter the sewer, on the grounds that present usage, plus the homes that can be tied in already and buildable lots along the present sewer line, would bring the plant to capacity. The report stated that there would be room to tie in the new homes at the time, but then more than 27 homes along the sewer line, whose owners pay a betterment assessment, could not be tied in.

Asked about this report and its availability to the Board of Health,
Mr. Walsh stated that he had never been aware that such a report existed, until told about it last weekend. He said personnel in the DPW thought the report had been sent along through normal channels.

held the first Thursday of each month, and these representatives are welcome to attend and be

My Views On Books

In cooperation with the Memorial Hall Library, during National Library Week, the Andover Townsman this week is publishing several personal statements from library users, on their use of books and the library. One of the statements follows, while others will be found on other pages of this newspaper:

By Arthur Petzold

Two years ago, my six year old son asked me the following questions: Were there ever any Indians in Andover, and did they use the bow and arrow or the gun? From the books and files of our library we receive the answer to these questions, and a good many more.

Yes, there were Indians in Andover, many encampments being along the Shawsheen river. There were about three "cultures", each recognizable by the shape of their projectile points, and the material used in their manufacture. The first of these Andover settlers camped along the Shawsheen river about the year 2,000 B.C. They used only stone tipped spears to secure game for survival, the bow and arrow being unknown at this time. The people who replaced these ancients, hundreds of years later, apparently used the bow and arrow in preference to the spear. They made tiny arrowpoints of white, or crystal quartz. Their reign was long. The last of the Indians of Andover made large and beautiful arrowpoints of a variety of materials, most common being a dark volcanic stone, known as felsite.

Fourteen ancient campsites may be found within walking distance from the center of town. My family and I frequently spend a little time on a pleasant afternoon, retrieving a lost arrowhead or a broken spear point there about the township. Books by Ripley P. Bullen, Frederick Johnson, Douglas Byers and Warren King Moorehead, all available at the library, give more information. When read, they give the reader a sense of feeling that he has had a view of the aborigines of the Shawsheen river valley, and visited their ancient campsites.

CREATED TRUST FUND IN WILL

Drawn up Aug. 24, 1956, the will of Charles D. Thompson of Andover has been recorded in the Registry of Probate. He died March 6. No estimate of the value of his estate was listed.

The New England Trust Co. of Boston and two sons, David M. Thompson and Donald G. were nominated as co-executors.

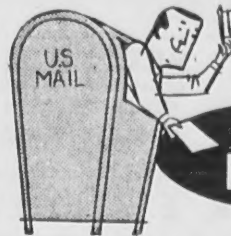

All of his jewelry, clothing, personal effects, books, silver, furniture and furnishings, and other tangible personal property were bequeathed to his widow, Mrs. Aline M. Thompson of Andover. She was also left all of his stock and interests in Merrimack, Inc. of Lawrence.

After certain expenses are deducted along with the value of property or interests given outright to her, half of the testator's gross estate is to be placed in trust for Mrs. Thompson, the testament stated. Upon her death, it stipulated, the remaining principal is to go to whatever beneficiary or beneficiaries she appoints.

The residue of the estate was

the same date that the will was executed.

My Views On Books

In cooperation with the Memorial Hall Library, during National Library Week, the Andover Townsman this week is publishing several personal statements from library users, on their use of books and the library. One of the statements follows, while others will be found on other pages of this newspaper.

By Herbert Kempton

By wandering through the aisles of books in the library a person is able to review the great store of knowledge that is available. Through seemingly idle browsing I once discovered that the library had just acquired a technical book on digital computers. This was the manner in which I started to delve into the very interesting subject of computers.

As I recall, I read and studied only the first few chapters of the book because of its very technical nature. Yet, it had instilled in me the desire to build my own computing device. Although I did not find actual plans for a computer, from this book I learned about the binary system of counting, which is a very useful tool. Also I found information on the basic computer types, and the components necessary for them to do fundamental arithmetic operations. My newest project is "Miniac", a computer of a binary nature that does subtraction. It will never compete with any of the new models, nevertheless, it works on the same basic principles which I found in this book belonging to the town library.

This is only one of the many fields in which the library has reference helps; the library can be an incentive to many people who explore further in many fields. I have always found the librarians helpful in finding information for me and interested in the progress of my projects.

Any person will receive many rewarding inspirations through reading and exploring in books and libraries. These are ways in which anyone may supplement his formal education.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Don't Foul It Up

A technical legal debate is being waged over the town's participation in the off-street parking program outlined by the Board of Trade.

Revolving around the legality of spending town funds on private land, the question appears to be one of how to proceed, rather than whether the town will do anything at all. At least we hope this is the problem, for it is apparent to most people that the parking is needed badly. It would indeed be a hefty kick in the teeth to the merchants and the shoppers if the town now decided it couldn't do anything at all to help solve this continuing parking problem.

Wide-awake, progressive shopping areas provide ample parking facilities for the shoppers — and in this case, the shoppers are primarily residents of the town. The merchants want the parking, they want to maintain a modern, progressive shopping area. If they are hindered in doing so by technicalities, or an unwillingness to cut red tape, town officials would be hurting the merchants, and also the residents of the community who live and pay taxes here.

Sound common sense is needed on all sides to bring this subject to its logical conclusion — the establishment of off-street parking — and we earnestly hope this is the goal of all the interested parties. It would be a shame to have legal questions used as an excuse for not doing anything, when there is every possibility that the legal snarl can be prudently untangled.

Strict Control Needed

The problem of door-to-door sales is becoming acute here, with magazine crews coming to town frequently, and other individuals wandering through the community selling a variety of goods.

While there is nothing harmful about selling merchandise or periodicals, the housewives of the town get alarmed when strangers are seen poking around outlying streets, occasionally in back yards and other places where they might not normally be.

As we understand it, magazine crews are listed by name in the police station, with the name and address of the manager of the sales force. If complaints are received, then, the police investigate and, on some occasions, ask the crews to leave town. Persons selling merchandise of one sort or another require state licenses, but do not have to check in at the station before beginning a tour through the town. No state license is needed to sell periodicals or literature, however, and the backgrounds of the persons doing this can't be known, to either state or local officials.

We think more stringent control over door-to-door sales personnel is needed, as an assurance to housewives and to keep some undesirable persons out of the town. It is our understanding that the town can adopt a by-law, or some form of regulations, that would be useful in this regard. Wouldn't it be a good idea for some municipal agency to study the problem and come up with answers within a reasonable period of time?

Professionals Do Good Job

The statement at the Selectmen's meeting Monday night that Raytheon Manufacturing Co. would not contest an increase of $500,000 in personal property values at the Shawsheen plant speaks well for the work of Assessor's Engineer Bernard Magane.

Actually, the Raytheon person who told one of the Selectmen about the boost praised Magane, stating that he was so nearly on the nose in his appraisal that the firm did not believe it worth while to debate it, even though they felt it might be slightly high.

We mention this here, not to brag about the town getting extra dollars from Raytheon, but to point out that the assessors department seems to be functioning very adequately in the difficult task of assessing industrial personal property and other property.

Naturally the backbone of good financial standing, and a fair, equitable assessment policy, is maintaining in the assessors office men of sound experience, who are professionals in this specialized field. We, along with hundreds of others, hope, and feel certain that, the town will continue to benefit from maintaining a professional assessor in the assessor's office. . . it's a thankless job, praised by few, but a very necessary one even so.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — April, 1909

Philip Hardy of this town is playing on the Lowell Textile School's baseball team.

Chester Farmer spent the weekend with his parents at their home on Whittier st.

The Rev. Frank R. Shipman and Mrs. Shipman have been spending a few days in New York.

A horse owned by H. M. Handlett took sick in Boxford Wednesday and another had to be dispatched to bring back the delivery wagon.

A special meeting of the School Committee has been held to debate the function of the press at meetings. It was voted to make the superintendent of schools a spokesman for the Committee. It was also voted to announce only actual votes passed by the full board, without reference to any member's opinions on any subject. The latter vote was opposed by two members, D. H. Poor and G. A. Christie.

Myron E. Guttererson was elected president of the Andover Natural History Society at the annual meeting held this week.

25 Years Ago — April, 1934

Only the town hall will be used for voting in the state's first primary next Tuesday. The single polling place will be open from 12 noon to 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Hannah Abbot Flint will celebrate her 94th birthday on the April 19 holiday.

Miss Dorothy Boyce won first prize of $20 in the annual Goldsmith Prize Speaking Contest. She gave the essay "Youth and the World".

It will cost $130,000 to build the new dormitory at Phillips Academy. The structure, on which work started this week, should be ready by the winter term next year.

An appeal is being made for all kinds of furniture for the family who was burned out Wednesday. (No other details of the fire seem to be available.)

A researcher at the Library has come up with the interesting the branch library will be closed on Monday, April 20. Any books which should fall due on that day will become due April 21. The branch library will be open Tuesday for the usual hours.

Notable Books

Each year a twelve-member council and 33 participating librarians from all over the United States compile a list of books published the previous year which have proven themselves to have literary excellence, informational value and importance, or skill in exposition to such a degree that they are worthwhile additions to the world of books. Nearly fifty books were selected as this year's "Notable Books of 1958" titles. The Memorial Hall Library has had them on display during this week, but for one day next week, Tuesday, April 21, the books will be on exhibit in the Ballardvale library. Interested persons may reserve titles which appeal to them.

Shoppers To Have Displays

If the weather is good, there will be gay little tables of books along Main st. store fronts on Friday, April 17, to catch the eye and interest of every shopper. This plan for sharing in the overall National Library Week is the project of the Town Committee for the national observance.

Wake Up And Read!

All through this week, libraries, schools, radio and television programs have been reminding the people of America of the importance of books in their lives. This is an opportunity for citizens to take time to visit local libraries and learn of their importance in the democratic scheme of things. Families have been urged by the Chairman of the Massachusetts Committee for National Library Week, Mr. Erwin D. Canham, of the Christian Science Monitor, to help celebrate this week by paying visits to their libraries, taking the children along and learning about local library services.

What's in a book? The past and all its discoveries, the future and all its mysteries. For some, it is the way to a better job; for others it is a companion for the lonely hours. For children, the whole world of adventure, for the troubled, a source of consolation and understanding.

The Memorial Hall Library is continuing its displays of new conclusion that liquor cost more than funerals in the early days of the town. One account of a funeral noted that more was spent on the hard stuff than on the coffin, while similar accounts were also discovered in the accounts of early days here. A feature story this week gives all the details.

10 Years Ago — April, 1949

The tree warden has informed the Selectmen that he has given his employees an increase of 11 cents an hour and the foreman a 13-cent increase. He has asked for a boost in his own pay from $56 to $70 which the Selectmen have taken under advisement. The crew includes three laborers and one foreman. The work-week has also been shortened from 45 to 44 hours.

Thomas P. Eldred has been named commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2129. Elected as senior vice commander was William Rockwell; and the junior vice commander will be Charles A. McKew.

Chief George A. Dane spoke to the Ballardvale PTA recently, describing the activities of a Greater Lawrence committee that censors comic books. The chief reported that distributors have cooperated nicely in keeping some objectionable books off the news stands. The committee was set up after several youths, caught breaking into a home in Lawrence, disclosed that they were getting their ideas from some comic books.

A solid gold life membership was presented to Francis P. Markey by Post 8, American Legion, at its anniversary celebration at Memorial Auditorium. He was honored for long and valued service as a Legion member and as veteran's agent in the town.

The track team will hold its first meet in Concord Tuesday.

Contributions to the Legion's fund to buy a resuscitator for the town total $285. The sum of $425 is needed, if the machine is to be furnished, along with tanks of oxygen.

books through the remainder of the week. All are most cordially invited to browse for an hour or more and to reserve those titles which appeal.

On Friday, if the weather allows, there will be sidewalk displays along the store front of Main Street. The town committee have planned to bring books to the attention of every shopper by this means.

Booklists, special displays and flowers that unite the usual Spring Festival with the National Library Week are on hand at the library. The books which have been reserved during the week will be put into circulation next week.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"Cultural and learning facilities are now an important factor in determining which industrial or commercial location to choose. It's suggested that Andover's exceptional character in this respect be capitalized by the preparation of a suitable booklet.

"The town's school system and library could join with Phillips, Abbot, Pike and Merrimack (College) to make a suitable brochure for sending to the more than 5,000 potential businesses which can be shown that in Andover there are the things which are conducive to profitable operation for them.

"Assuming that the town has the ability to support productive property that would yield up to $600,000 of tax income yearly, than the town would be justified in investing up to $40,000 a year for the next five years in promotion costs to try to obtain that goal. Incidentally, that would also be 50 cents on the tax rate. However, business, like individuals, go where the attractions prove equal to the invitation. But regardless of the attractions, few go where not first invited."

Reichhold Will Expand Manufacturing Facilities

Dr. A. L. Wooten, general manager of the New England Division of Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. has announced that construction will start immediately on a threefold expansion of the epoxy resin manufacture at Ballardvale.

It is anticipated that manufacture will start in the new facilities before Sept. 1. With this added manufacturing capacity, Reichhold Chemicals will become one of the leaders in the manufacture of this rapidly growing new plastic field.

It is anticipated that Reichhold's Ballardvale construction budget for 1959 will exceed $500,000, including the modernization and relocation of the formaldehyde plant which recently was severely damaged by fire.

Dr. Wooten emphasized at this point that both he and Reichhold's management wished to express their very deep gratitude for the efforts of the various fire departments and the Reichhold employees who managed to contain the fire within the one manufacturing area. Without the efforts of these men, the damage would have been perhaps ten times as much as it was.

He also emphasized his company's gratitude to the many offers of immediate assistance from the members of the local and state organizations, from the business community of Andover, and from other chemical manufacturers in New England.

Cole Re-elected By Association

Officers of the Andover Town Employees Association were elected at a meeting held last week.

Deputy Fire Chief Albert Cole Jr., was re-elected president of the Association. Water and Sewer Superintendent Donald C. Bassett will serve as vice president; Calvin E. Metcalf, office manager, Department of Public Works, secretary; and Town Treasurer Anna M. Greeley, treasurer.

The executive board will be composed of Sgt. Robert V. Deyernmond, police department; Lt. Woodrow Crowley, fire department; Calvin Metcalf, town hall; Miss Miriam Putnam, Memorial Hall library; Miss Evelyn Parker, school teachers; Edward Smith, Spring Grove cemetery; and John Lynch, Public Works department.

The slate of officers was presented by the nominating committee made up of Howard Colbath, Woodrow Crowley, Warren Maddox, Everett Ward and Frank Markey.

200 Mothers & Daughters
Had Gala Evening Together

Two hundred mothers, daughters and granddaughters enjoyed an evening together last Friday night in the Auditorium of the West Church. A delicious Baked Ham supper was served by the Mens' Club of the Church.

A few statistics as follows were gathered during the evening by Mrs. Charles Smyth, chairman of the ticket committee:
The oldest mother was Mrs. Mary Berry, aged 89 years; the youngest mother, age 20, Mrs.

Edward Goddard; youngest daughter, Linda Becher, 22 months; youngest grandmother, Mrs. John Cairne; mother of the newest baby, Mrs. Arthur Read, Betsy, 2 weeks old; mother with the most daughters, Mrs. Fred Tarbox, with Charlene, Cathy and Gretchen.

Also grandmother with most granddaughters, Mrs. Arthur Lewis, with Cynthia, Diana, and Lisa Lewis; grandmother with most grandchildren, Mrs. Bradford, 19; Mrs. Margaret Muller had the most great grandchildren, 4; most generations present, four, Mrs. Mary Ohanian, Mrs. Leon Dandson, Mrs. Virgil Marson and Nina Marson.

Mrs. Margaret Muller and Mrs. Hugh Penney had the least daughters, the former with five sons and the latter three sons, Hugh Jr., Bruce and Paul. The reward for the "mostest" was a pink carnation. The entertainment was John Sisson and his puppets and Magic tricks, a delight for the old and most especially the young.

My Views
On Books

In cooperation with the Memorial Hall Library, during National Library Week, the Andover Townsman this week is publishing several personal statements from Library users, on their use of books and the Library. One of the statements follows, while others will be found on other pages of this newspaper:

By Lionel A. Goulet

My work takes me to school each day
Where books are read 'tween talk and play.

Essentially books mean work to me since I am in teaching. They are an indispensable tool, a never changing friend, a dependable co-worker, a silent companion. I need a good variety to do my job well.

Recreation and relaxation are so vital in our hurried lives and, I find these while reading. Our very well-stocked library has opened many new areas of interest to me. I find my curiosity well satisfied, yet; reading habits grow and I'm earnestly thankful for the richness it adds to my life.

The friendly staff excels as a host.

A thing of which I proudly boast.

I can't help but add these words so sincerely meant to express the kindness directed to all visitors of our library by the amiable members of the staff. Their enthusiasm and devotion to the reader's wishes make using the library a very great joy. The complete respect for the public and its taste is a thing of which Andover should be justly proud.

May I close by quoting a summary of the value of books that we try to foster?

"Books are keys to wisdom's treasure;
Books are gates to lands of pleasure;
Books are paths that upward lead;
Books are friends. Come, let us read."

(Inscription for the Children's Reading Room, Hopkinton, Mass.)

Legal Opinion Seen Threat To Free Off-Street Parking

Off-street parking to the west of the stores along Main st. took a hard blow Monday night, when Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien ruled that the town can't provide money to develop land that is privately controlled.

The only way the town can help pay for the $25,000 worth of improvements to the property, he suggested, is to lease the area after it has been developed by the merchants, and pay out in rent what otherwise might have been spent in a so-called contribution.

However, Selectman William Stewart was quick to point out that a lease by the town would obligate the municipality to maintain the area, light it, and that the town would be liable for any accidents on the property.

The merchants, through the Board of Trade, have been asking the town to match $12,500 raised by the businessmen, to put the area in shape. With the addition of the parking area now behind the Merrimack Valley National Bank, well over 100 cars could be parked in the expanded area.

A promise of $10,000 for this purpose had been made by the former Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee, with money to come from the $25,000 off-street parking appropriation voted at town meeting. At a special meeting last year, the town also voted to allow the town to lease property for parking, in addition to the granted rights of purchase or seizure.

While there was no immediate decision by the Selectmen Monday night, the comments of Board members revolved around possible liabilities that might be incurred by the town if a lease is arranged. Mr. O'Brien pointed out that the statutes limit the length of a lease to five years, but it can be renewed at the end of that time.

The Board of Trade will attend the Selectmen's meeting next Monday night to review the situation and attempt to find an answer that will permit town participation in the project.

Gave Money For Library

Headmaster John M. Kemper of Phillips Academy has announced that publisher James S. Copley, of La Jolla, Cal., has donated funds for the construction of a $125,000 wing-addition to the school's Oliver Wendell Holmes library.

The new structure is a major item in the recently-announced $6,050,000 Andover Program, the most comprehensive development plan in the history of the nation's oldest incorporated boarding school.

The Holmes Library, named in honor of Oliver Wendell Holmes (of the Phillips Academy class of 1825), was built in 1929, and now contains more than 74,000 volumes (including such valuable items as a collection of rare Vergilian, an original elephant folio of Audubon's "Birds of America", contemporary accounts of John Paul Jones, papers and books of Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a notable collection of 259 volumes on English Public School).

Necessitated by new methods of teaching, as well as an increased student enrollment, the Copley wing will provide seats for seniors in a special reference room, and a balcony area with 40 individual cubicles (with chair, desk, and book shelves for advanced, independent study).

In recent years, Mr. Copley has provided the Holmes Library with funds for the purchase of books in the fields of biography (American history), printing, and publishing. In addition, he has contributed to Andover's Addison Gallery of American Art through membership in the Addison Gallery Associates.

A graduate of Phillips Academy (1935) and Yale University (1939), Mr. Copley at present is chairman of the Board of the Copley Press, Inc., La Jolla, Cal., publishing several newspapers in California and Illinois.
